North America's Leading Providers
At Midwest Regional Event*

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS AND ST. LOUIS — June 28, 2006 — CTS Technology Solutions, Inc., an industry leader in telecommunications, announced today that the company's president, David Heuman, spoke at an industry conference hosted by Technology Assurance Group (TAG), a national organization of independently owned telecommunication companies representing over $300 million in products and services in both the United States and Canada. Mr. Heuman shared his valuable knowledge, expertise, and insight on a wide range of business issues impacting telecom providers and the companies they serve. The two day regional conference was held in Chicago last month.

Telecom professionals listened to Mr. Heuman discuss such topics as how to hire the right individuals and create a culture that supports their success, management transition and succession planning, defining the business planning process and how to integrate it with customer goals, and identifying the industry's top three business issues and how to overcome them.

"We requested Mr. Heuman's presence and participation in TAG's

Midwest Regional Conference because his many years of experience in the telecommunications field and his success of building one of the premier companies in the industry," said Dale Johnson, president of Technology Assurance Group. "CTS is one of our premier member companies and their participation enhanced the knowledge and skill set of everyone in attendance."

"Speaking at the conference gave us a tremendous opportunity to illustrate our expertise in what has historically been a rapidly changing and evolving industry," said David Heuman, president of CTS. "A key component of our mission is to help our colleagues in other marketplaces become better businesses so they can provide an even greater level of service and innovative telecommunications technology to both mature and emerging companies."
